PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

Mr Yeldon practices predominantly in property law and insurance law, building and construction cases and commercial law and equitable cases. He has worked on very complex matters involving construction law defects and delay claims. He has worked on a case of national significance to the Corporations Act. He has acted in vendor and purchaser disputes, contractual disputes and real property litigation. He has also acted in professional negligence, public liability and product liability cases and in deceased estates. He is a senior lawyer with over 17 years' legal experience in litigation. He has a skill set derived from top-tier and boutique firms and many years practice at the bar.

He has extensive experience having acted as counsel in trials and appeals, both alone and led. He has appeared as counsel in all courts in Western Australia, save for the High Court of Australia. He has also appeared in the Supreme Court of Victoria. He has extensive experience having acted as counsel in mediations. He has been led as junior counsel to eminent senior counsel from Western Australia and New South Wales. He has also appeared as counsel in many contested hearings in the District, Supreme and Federal Courts. He successfully completed postgraduate qualifications in law at a high level while carrying on practice. He is interested in law, and has been a speaker at many CLE seminars and the mentor of several legal practitioners.
